SHE SPINS ME RIGHT ROUND BABY, RIGHT ROUND

After the Premier committed HST declaration-fraud by actually having the temerity to want us to believe that his nonsensical (read: stupid) tax wasn't part of his dishonest plan through the election, a saviour is born...

Why look, my darlings, it's NDP millstone, er, I mean, leader, Carole James, only one week late after the Premier's announcement.

She's on the job. She'll save us...

My knees have weakened, my palms are all sweaty and I feel faint.

Please, someone, anyone, stop this woman before she injures herself stepping off that cloud.

CRITICAL ASSES

So the cycling activists reign supreme in Comrade Gregor's Vancouver. The police sleep through the willful public law-breaking of dope marches, cycling rallies and the like.

The extremists have taken over the city.

You are not safe anymore. Not while Vision runs Silly Hall.

OF SUITS AND STEROIDS

I noticed that in Rome last week, 29 swimming records were broken in five days. That's exactly four more than were broken in Beijing during their Olympics.

We even notched one, as a Canadian swimmer broke the world record in the women's 200-metre breaststroke. And the big story? That they were all clad in the newest version of the sharkskin-like suit that has enabled swimmers to cheat for years now.

Frankly, I think someone should call Ben Johnson and offer our apologies, give him his gold medal back and buy him dinner.

THE MATHS OF ST. BARRY

The President of the U.S. is, apparently, math and truth challenged. Their economy is "rebounding" according to St. Barry "because our stimulus efforts worked." Really? 75 per cent of the money hasn't reached target yet and they've garnered a 0.6 per cent increase in growth. This man has no shame. A moderate bump now realized after a massive dumping of the markets in the first quarter and a half of 2009, is a "rebound." But you still love him, right?

Bush must have left his calculator behind.

The path to sustainability

After multiple elections of running a leader who looks (and dresses) like a 1970s porn actor, offering policies that would bankrupt Canada, and brokering a deal with separatist swine to hijack the House of Commons, the federal NDP are contemplating a name change.

Maybe they should keep the acronym and call themselves the 'No (Tommy) Douglas Party' - because this is about the last time they were at all relevant and it was only because of a name change from the CCF.

The NDP are one of the few parties in world political history that have made a career out of getting almost everything wrong (except for assisting to push for MediCare and facilitating in the creation of PetroCan).

That's two positive contributions since 1961. What a successful run. Why stop now?

FIND THE END OF YOUR RAINBOW

How is it that the Pride Parade folks are so damn brilliant that for the last five years straight, er, excuse me, they have been able to predict the exact attendance figures for each following year?

Let me tell you: Because the figures come by press release from the society itself, without one stitch of fact checking by anyone in the mainstream media, for fear of being attacked with a feather boa.

As well, I remain flummoxed how floats flaunting simulated group sex promote AIDS awareness, dignity, respect or equality, and how 'Dykes on Bikes' doesn't extend stereotypical and hurtful views of lesbians.

Oh, and I loved the fact that the City of Vancouver float, carrying our deliriously dancing "green" Mayor, was being pulled by a diesel-spewing tractor.

No pink chickens, though.
